Home of mercy Project

Rationale

Sharing Life Foundation operates by continuing the spirit of Saint Camillus through the Camillian group and Catholic Christians in the area. By provides assistance to the needy, the disabled, and the abandoned in Nakhon Ratchasima by regularly visiting beneficiaries.

Pope Francis spoke to participants at an international interfaith seminar on palliative care, emphasizing the need for those suffering from illness and nearing the end of life to receive hope from their caregivers. He said, "They need witnesses of hope from those who care for and stand by them. Caring for the sick and the dying is an expression of mercy and respect for the dignity of every person. We all, as members of society, have a duty to love and support the sick and the dying, as well as to support their loved ones with compassion, so that no one is confined, isolated, or forgotten in their time of need."

After over four years of operate the project, in 2023, we found that 159 people were in need within the community visit program. A major issue observed was abandonment, leading to a lack of caregivers and homelessness. Approximately 10 individuals in the community visit program faced these problems, mostly elderly people with no relatives and no permanent residence, living in makeshift shelters, under bridges, under trees, along canals, and in public dumps.

The foundation has taken two beneficiaries into care at Home for the aged Ratchasima, one of whom has since passed away. This initiative significantly improved the beneficiaries' lives, providing better living conditions, hygiene, consistent meals, and participation in activities similar to other elderly residents.

Witnessing these changes inspired to launch the " Home of mercy Project" within at Home for the aged Ratchasima to accommodate abandoned elderly individuals from the Home care Project. This project aims to provide a dignified and quality life, operated by the Camillian group, Christian volunteers, volunteer staff, and other devout individuals. The project requires cooperation from government agencies and local volunteers to be successful.

"God created humans, and every human has equal value and dignity."

"Whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me."

(Matthew 25:40).
